

Permaculture Design Certificate

April 25 to May 11, 2014

The Peace of Wild Things

"I came to the PDC convinced that discipleship calls us to be about creation care. I left the PDC convinced that not only are we meant to have creation care as one of our core values but really it is the core. That we were placed on this earth to tend a garden. It is about returning to ancient wisdom, the ancient wisdom found everywhere in our Scriptures. One thing that most excites me is permaculture is an inviting in of beauty. In the face of so much brokenness in our world permaculture is actively inviting healing, renewal, restoration and it is beautiful." Julia

"This PDC gave me new eyes for seeing not only the land that I live on, but also the community of people, plants and animals that live on and around that land. With those new eyes I not only see with gratitude, but also with hope for healing where healing is needed. And for me, hope is the great gift of this course." Sylvia
